

What to do with a million free funds – is the investment in the bank deposit more profitable or is better to invest in the cryptocurrencies?

My aim is to check what is more profitable investment in bank deposit or in the cryptocurrencies. I am going to calculate where investing one million dollars is more profitable and where we can gain more money. I am going to do it over the space of last five years.

Thesis

Cryptocurrencies are more profitable and let make more money than investment in bank deposit.

STEP 01

Planning

First of all I chose my main topic of project and plan every single step including finding what knowledge I have to get to make my project the most solid

STEP 02

Secondly when I knew what I had to learn and where I had to extend my knowledge I made a research and found websites which I could learn from

Informations

STEP 03

After that I followed my plan and did everything from it. I calculated everything and get some results which helped me chose what is more profitable

Process of making

Conclusion

After checking all calculations and results I get to the conclusion that investing in the cryptocurrencies is more profitable than investment in bank deposit. But on cryptocurrencies we could also lose a lot of money especially in short term investments so we have to be very patients and dont be carried by emotions